FLUENCY LESSON 25

A letter from Shirley, a 9-year-old African-American girl in Montgomery, Alabama, to her cousin Elizabeth in Detroit, Michigan...

December 5, 1955

Dear Elizabeth,

Guess what's happening in Montgomery? We are having a bus boycott! Do you know what that is? It's when a lot of people refuse to use a service—like the city bus—as a way of protesting something. Starting today, black people won't ride the buses anymore because of the unfair way the bus company treats us.

Remember how it is here? The black people have to sit in the back of the bus, and the white folks get to sit up front. If the bus gets full, the black people have to give up their seats to the whites. It's the law. You're lucky that in Detroit, you can sit anywhere you like on the bus. That must be nice!

Here's what happened. Last week, a black woman named Rosa Parks was riding the bus. She was on her way home from work. When the bus got full, the driver told her to get up and give a white person her seat. She refused! So, the police came and arrested her. They took her to jail! Can you believe it? Mrs. Parks said she was tired of giving in to white people. So now, people in Montgomery aren't going to ride the bus at all until things change. The bus company sure is going to lose a lot of money!

We're all trying to help each other with transportation. Most black folks here don't have cars. The ones that do are driving others to work. Black taxi drivers are charging only a dime (the same as the bus fare) instead of 45 cents for a ride. Thousands of people are walking miles to work, school, and church. The buses are practically empty! Until the laws change, I'll keep walking!

Love, Shirley
